Brandon Arant for Pardee Properties

Where: 911 Nowita Place, Venice

When: Sunday, December 6 from 1:00pm-4:00pm

Asking: $3.987,000

What: A newly-constructed 4-bed, 3.5-bath home on leafy Venice walk street by artist/designer Kim

Gordon in a style that's been described as "Indigenous Venice". Designed from the inside out and intended to tap both deep emotions and creativity, Gordon has created what might be (seriously) called a safe space for life with exemplary detailing— and in her own words, "organic luxury looks like nothing and feels like home." We couldn't agree more.

The extraordinary stair extends up to a roof terrace, and throughout the house the windows are custom wrought iron, evoking early-20th Century commercial buildings.

Below, the master bedroom suite's seating area opens to a balcony.

What We Love: Falling somewhere between a loft and a farmhouse, it references the best kind of Boho Chic and yet could really only exist in Venice. And while the furnishings are not included in the price, they are available for purchase.
